A FABLE.

Recommended to the study of a great Man.

Two travellers in merry mood,
While sat'ring through a pleasant wood;
Began together friendly chat,
And talk'd of this, and talk'd of that.
They came, as onward they were strolling,
Where a small rivulet was rolling;
Upon one side the spreading yew,
And prickly thorn, and wortle grew:
The sun his radiant splendor shed,
Upon the water's limped bed;
Thence from the bosom of the stream,
The naughty, rude, meredian beam,
As our two friends were passing by,
Struck on the one or other's eye.
"Zounds! cries the angry man of might,
The sun has nearly robb'd my sight.
Unruly sun, how durst thou shine,
And dim those piercing eyes of mine?"
Then like Caligula had done,
Who brav'd his gods, he dar'd the sun:
And vow'd that if the fiery wight,
Would but descend to single fight,
He'd teach him how to burn his eye,
Or in th' attempt would nobly die.
"The noon day sun, let me remind you,
My angry sir, is right behind you;
His friend exclaims, "and could not shine
To wound that piercing sight of thine."
"Zounds, but it does," the man replies,
And dims the sight of mind and eyes."
That shadow," his companion said,
"Is but the shadow of a shade,
A ghost of that meridian beam,
Which, striking on the lucid stream,
From thence by mere reflection flies,
And casts its shadow on your eyes."
"Shadow or shade, whate'er it be,
An insult I can plainly see
The wight intends to fling at me.
Besides, I pray you, tell me too,
If shine on me, why not on you?"
"On me, and not on you, 'twould shine,
Were I in your place—you in mine."
"Well, well," replies the angry man,
"Though you can't see it, yet I can;
And now by all the stellar host,
Whether 'twere shadow, shade, or ghost;
My easy friend, depend upon 't,
I'll have revenge for this affront;
And bring to punishment condign,
The author of this glaring—shine!"
Now off he walk'd in angry mood,
And left his friend within the wood;
Who as he mus'd, a man of rhyme
Did

MORAL

Thus upon the time,
'Tis monstrous hard a single soul,
Should have us under his control:
Who sees like none of all the nation,
A spirit of insinuation,
Of a mere shadow of a shade,
Of a faint ghost of insult made.
Let him out show the airy spirite,
And bring the phantom into sight,
Then we will feed his dang'rous passion,
With all the strength of all the nation."

From the NORFOLK LEDGER.

FRENCH DIPLOMACY.—In our last we copied from the Boston Palladium, a note addressed by Mr. Genet to our government, and this day republish the celebrated communications of the present French minister, Mons. Turreau. It is to be hoped that the candid reader will compare those documents (which we have republished verbatim, without the omission of one word) with Mr. Jackson's correspondence, and if he does not find more insult in one line, and in different lines, than is to be found in all the letters of Mr. Jackson, then we do not understand the meaning of words. The more insolent passages are marked in Italicks. After pronouncing the trade to St. Domingo (which produced these communications) ignoble and criminal, Mons. Turreau uses an ironical sneer at the pre-extolled equity and impartiality of our government in not forbidding this ignoble and criminal traffic. He tells the president that he has not done his duty in not making proper communications to the legislature, when deciding on what information the president ought to make to Congress. The notes of Mons. Talleyrand to gen. Armstrong are also inserted; taking the whole together, we think (except in French diplomacy) no independent nation was ever so insulted, nor received the insult with such humility, than the United States did on this occasion.

MESSAGE

From the President of the U. S. transmitting documents and papers, relative to complaints by the government of France, against the commerce carried on by American citizens, to the French island of St. Domingo.

IN SENATE OF THE U. STATES,
January 10, 1806.

Read and ordered to lie for consideration.

To the Senate of the United States.

In compliance with the request of the Senate, expressed in their resolution of December 27, I now lay before them such documents and papers (there being no information in my possession) as relate to complaints by the government of France, against the commerce carried on by citizens of the U. S. to the French island of St. Domingo.

TH: JEFFERSON.

January 10th, 1806.

From General Turreau to the Secretary of State.

The undersigned minister plenipotentiary of his imperial and royal majesty, to his excellency the president of the U. States of America, has testified in his conversations with the secretary of state, his just discontent with the commercial relations, which many citizens of different states of the union maintain with the rebels of every color, who have momentarily withdrawn the colony of St. Domingo from the legal authority.

The principles injuriously affected by such commerce, or rather by such a system of robbery (brigandage) are so evident, so generally acknowledged and adopted, not only by all nations who have a colonial system to defend, but even by those who have none; and moreover every wise people to whatsoever political aggregation they may belong; that the statesman, if he has lost every idea of justice, of humanity, and of public law, can no more contest their wisdom, than their existence. And certainly the undersigned, in finding himself called by his duty, as well as by his inclination, in the bosom of a friendly people, and near the respectable chief who directs its government; certainly the undersigned ought not to have expected that his first political relations would have for their object, a complaint so serious, an infraction so manifest by law, the most sacred, and the best observed by every nation under the dominion of civilization.

But it is not enough for some citizens of the U. S. to convey munitions of every kind to the rebels of St. Domingo, to that race of African slaves, the reproach and the refuse of nature; it was moreover necessary to secure the success of this ignoble and criminal traffic by the use of force. The vessels destined to protect it are constructed, loaded, armed, in the ports of the union, under the eyes of the American people, of its particular authority, and of the federal government itself; and this government, which has taken for the basis of its political career, the most scrupulous equity, and the most impartial neutrality, does not forbid it.

Without doubt, and notwithstanding the profound consideration, with which the minister plenipotentiary of the French empire is penetrated for the government of the union; he might enlarge still farther upon the reflections suggested by such a state of things, a circumstance so important, so unexpected. But it would be equally as afflicting for him to dwell upon it, to state its consequences, as it would be for the government to hear them.

The secretary of state, who perfectly knows the justice of the principles, and the legitimacy of the rights, referred to in this note, will be of opinion, that neither are susceptible of discussion; because a principle universally assented, a right generally established, is never discussed, or at least discussed in vain. The only way open for the redress of these complaints, is to put an end to the tolerance which produces them, and which daily aggravate these consequences.

Moreover this note, founded upon facts not less evident than the principles which they infract, does not permit the undersigned to doubt that the government of the United States will take the most prompt, as well as the most effectual prohibitory measures, in order to put an end to its cause; and he seizes with eagerness this occasion of renewing to the secretary of state, the assurances of his high consideration.

(Signed) TURREAU.

Faithfully translated,
J. WAGNER, Chief Cl'k,
Department State.

General Turreau, minister plenipotentiary of his imperial and royal Majesty, to Mr. Madison, secretary of state.

WASHINGTON, January 3, 1805.

SIR,

Formal orders of my government oblige me to insist upon the contents of my official note, of the 14th of Oct. last, relative to the commerce, which some inhabitants of the United States, maintain with the rebels of St. Domingo.

Not receiving any answer to that note, I had room to hope, that the government of the Union would take prompt and effectual measures to put an end to the causes which produced it; but your silence towards me, especially in relation to St. Domingo, and that of your government towards Congress, impose upon me the duty of recalling to your recollection, the said official note, and of renewing to you my complaints upon the tolerance given to an abuse, as shocking, as contrary to the law of nations, as it is to the treaties of peace and friendship existing between France and the United States.

I will not recur, sir, to the different circumstances which have attended the commerce with the revolted part of St. Domingo; to the scandalous publicity given to its shameful success; to the rewards and encomiums prostituted upon the crews of armed vessels, whose destinations are to protect the voyages, to carry munitions of every kind to the rebels, and thus to nourish rebellion and robbery.

You ought not to be surprized, sir, that I call anew the attention of the American government to this subject. His excellency M. Talleyrand has already testified his discontent to general Armstrong, your minister plenipotentiary at Paris; and you will be of opinion that it is at length time to pursue formal measures against every adventure to the ports of St. Domingo occupied by the rebels. The system of tolerance which produces this commerce, which suffers its being armed, which encourages by impunity its extension and its excess, cannot longer remain; and the emperor and king my master, expects from the dignity and candor of the government of the Union, that an end will be put to it promptly.

I add to this despatch a copy of the official note, which has already been transmitted to you. I earnestly request, sir, that you acknowledge the receipt of both, and receive anew assurances of my high consideration.

(Signed) TURREAU.

Faithfully translated,
J. WAGNER,
Chief clerk department of state.

From Mr. Talleyrand to gen. Armstrong.

[Without date, but received in general Armstrong's letter to the secretary of state, of the 10th August, 1805.]

SIR,

I have several times had the honor to call your attention to the commerce carried on from the ports of the United States, to those of St. Domingo occupied by the rebels. These commercial communications could appear to be almost daily increasing. In order to cover their true destination, the vessels are cleared for the W. Indies without a more particular designation of the place, and with the aid of these commissions, provisions, arms, and other objects of support, of which they stand in need, are carried to the rebels of St. Domingo.

Altho' these adventures may be more than the result of private speculations, the government of the United States is not the less engaged to put an end to them, by a consequence of the obligations which bind together all the civiliz d powers, all those who are in a state of peace. No government can second the spirit of revolt of the subjects of another power; and, as in this state of things, it cannot maintain communications with them, it ought not to favor those which its own subjects maintain.

It is impossible that the government of the United States, should longer shut its eyes upon the communications of their commerce with St. Domingo. The adventures for that island, are making with a scandalous publicity. They are supported by armed vessels—at their return feasts are given, in order to vaunt the success of their speculations; and the acknowledgment, even the eulogies of the government are so much relied upon, that it is at these feasts, and in the midst of an immense concourse, where are found the first authorities of the country, that the principles of the government of Hayti are celebrated, and that vows are made for its duration.

I have the honor, sir to transmit to your excellency, an extract of an American journal, in which are contained sundry details of a feast given in the port of New York, on board of a convoy which had arrived from St. Domingo.

The ninth toast given to the government of Hayti, cannot fail, sir, to excite your indignation. It is not, sir, after having covered every thing with blood and ruins that the rebels of St. Domingo, ought to have found apologists in a nation the friend of France.

But they do not stop at their first speculations. The company of merchants which gave a feast on the return of their adventure, is preparing a second convoy, and proposes to place it under the escort of several armed vessels.

I have the honor, sir, to give you this information, in order that you may be pleased to call the most serious attention of your government towards a series of facts, which it becomes its dignity and candor, no longer to permit. The federal government cannot so far seperate itself from the inhabitants of the United States, as to permit them, acts and communications, which it thinks itself bound to interdict to itself; or, as to think that it can distinguish its own responsibility from that of its subjects, when there is in question an unparellelled revolt, whose circumstances, and whose horrible consequences, must alarm all nations, and who are all interested in seeing it cease.

France ought to expect from the amity of the United States, and his majesty charges me, sir, that they interdict every private adventure, which under any pretext or designation whatever, may be destined to the ports of St. Domingo occupied by the rebels.

Receive, general, the assurances of my consideration.

(Signed)
Ch. M. TALLEYRAND.

To his excellency gen. Armstrong,
Minister plenipotentiary of the United States.

Faithfully translated,
J. WAGNER,
Chief clerk department of state.

From Mr. Talleyrand to Gen. Armstrong.

PARIS, 29th Thermidor, 13th year.
(10th August, 1805.)

SIR,

Since the letter I had the honor to write to you on the 2d Thermidor, concerning the armaments which were making in the ports of the United States for the western part of St. Domingo, fresh information upon this point confirms every thing which had been received. The adventures for St. Domingo are publicly made; vessels are armed for war to protect the convoys; and it is in virtue of contracts, entered into between Dessalines and American merchants, that the latter send him supplies and munitions of war.

I add, sir, to this letter, which I have the honor to write to you, a copy of a sentence given at Halifax, in the matter of a merchant of New-York, who had conveyed into the revolted part of St. Domingo, three cargoes of gunpowder, and was taken on his return by an English frigate.

If even in the English tribunal, where this prize was condemned, the whole island of St. Domingo was considered as a French colony, how can the federal government tolerate that the rebels of this colony should continue to receive from America, succors against a parent country. It is impossible that that government should be ignorant of the armaments making in its ports. Too much publicity is given to them, not to render it responsible, and it ought to perceive that it is contrary to every system of peace and good friendship, to suffer longer in its ports, armaments evidently directed against France.

Without doubt the federal government would not wish, in order to favor certain private speculations, to give new facilities to rebellion and robbery; (brigandage) the tolerance of a commerce so scandalous would be unworthy of it. Neither your government nor his majesty can be any longer indifferent to it; and as the seriousness of the facts, which occasion this complaint, obliges his majesty to consider as good prize, every thing which shall enter the ports of St. Domingo occupied by the rebels, and every thing coming out; he persuades himself, that the government of the United States, will take on its part, against this commerce at once illicit and contrary to all the principles of the law of nations, all the repressive and authoritative measures proper to put an end to it. This system of impunity and tolerance cannot no longer continue; and his majesty is convinced, that your government will think it due from its frankness promptly to put an end to it.

Receive, sir, the assurances of my high consideration.

C. M. TALLEYRAND.

We hear from Frankfort that Henry Clay, Esq. has been elected, to fill the vacancy in the Senate of the United States, occasioned by the resignation of Buckner Thruston, Esq. Majority, 30 over Logan, the other candidate. [Reporter.

Look Out.—It appears that the ship Rebecca, belonging to general Smith & Buchanan, has been captured for being in the employ of the Dutch East-India Company, carrying on a trade between Batavia & Japan, a trade that is permitted to no nation but the Dutch, and to them only on the condition, that they who navigate the vessel shall on their arrival at Japan trample on the cross. This ship it is said sailed from Baltimore just in time to escape Mr. Jefferson's embargo. She sailed under American, but she was captured under Dutch colors, and one of her owners is the patriot who loudly exclaims against the prostitution of our flag.

BALTIMORE, January 18.

Spanish Colonies.—It will be seen by our marine list, that capt. Patterson, at Boston, who left Havanna 23d December, reports a brisk trade between the colonies and old Spain; and that Americans would, by petitioning the governor, be permitted to enter and sell. This being understood (we apprehend) as a special permit granted to each petitioner respectively; as the captain states that no order to open the port had been received. Capt. Carpenter, of the George, at New York, reports a number of American vessels at St. Jago de Cuba, not permitted to enter.

Arrived at Holmes' Hole, sch'r Superb, Patterson, of Belfast, 17 days from Havanna for Boston. Left Dec. 23, the Nestor, Laton, for Boston; Rubicon, Jones, do. in 16 or 18 days; Isabella, Bray, do; Fame, Johnson, do; Eight Sisters, Hammond, do. loading; Industry, Ainsworth, Providence, next day; Monsoon, Brigham, Baltimore, in 10 or 12 days, had lost Mr. Snow, the mate; Retrieve, Portland, the captain (Jordan) had been sick 3 times, not recovered; Mary, Elmer, Hartford; Fame, Gardner, of Providence, for New York; John, Gray, for Newport; captain Topliff, of Boston, in a Spanish vessel; Delight, Mosher, Providence; Winnefred, Moorfield, Bristol, R. I.; a schr. (Wolfe supercargo) just arrived in 13 days from Bristol, with the president's message; brig Vulcan, Price, arrived off the Havanna, about the 20th of Dec. in 13 days from Boston, waiting permission to enter, as were several British ships—NO ORDER HAVING BEEN RECEIVED TO OPEN THE PORT. All vessels arriving off the port, by petitioning the gov. obtain leave to enter and dispose of their cargoes for what they would fetch. Markets very dull for American produce; lumber 25, and flour 15 dolls. No new sugars in market, and molasses the new crops not being in. The duties remained as heretofore.—Several Americans were trading in the Maine, under Spanish colors. A fleet of 30 sail sailed for Spain about 18th December; sloop Three Sallies, Gooch, of Machias, sailed in co. for Charleston, in ballast. Dec. 26, in the Gulph Stream, saw a brig under JURY-MASTS, and probably standing for Charleston. At Holmes Hole, on Tuesday, brig Joshua, Nash, supercargo, 24 days from the south of Cuba, waiting orders.

MONDAY, January 22.

[Taken for the Alexandria Gazette.]

Mr. Newton presented the petition of sundry Mechanics of the city of Washington, stating that they had entered into an association for the purpose of assisting each other in case of accident, and praying for an act of incorporation to enable them to carry their views into effect. Referred to the committee on the District of Columbia.

Mr. Johnson called up his resolution laid on the table on Friday last, respecting the addition of a rule to the rules and orders of the house appropriating Friday in each week to the business of hearing reports on petitions. The question was taken by ayes and noes and carried—Ayes 88—Noes 15.

Mr. Newton offered a resolution, which, after undergoing several modifications suggested by Messrs. Dana and Tallmadge, was made to read as follows, and was in that shape passed and a committee appointed to wait on the president and present it:

"Resolved, That the president of the U. S. be requested to cause be laid before this house, by the proper department, a return of the army of the U. S. with the particular force of each regiment and corps, with the desiination of the principal officers commanding the same, and particularly the condition of that detachment of the regular army allotted to the defence of New Orleans, the number sent there, with the different dispositions which have been made of that detachment, and its present effective force, with such other information as he may deem necessary to communicate respecting the state of the army."

Mr. Dana offered a resolution to instruct the committee of commerce and manufactures, to enquire into the propriety of making any supplementary provisions to the act for surveying the ports and harbors of the U. S. Adopted.

Mr. Dana moved another resolution to instruct the committee of commeree & manufactures to enquire into the expediency of making any provision by law respecting the maritime precints of the United States. Agreed to.

Mr. Burwell called up his resolutions laid on the table some days since, relative to convoys, and arming merchantmen.—The resolutions were referred to a select committee of five. On the question of reference the ayes were 100—noes 18.

Mr. Rhea reported a bill for making further provision for the government of the territory of Louisiana.

Mr. Emmett presented the petition of sundry inhabitants of the state of New York, respecting jurors in the courts of the U. S. Referred to a select committee.

Mr. Macon called up the order of the day on his bill respecting commercial intercourse between the United States and Great Britain and France and their dependencies.

Mr. Mumford's amendment was declared by the Speaker, out of order, as the same subject had been referred in Burwel's resolutions.

Mr. Montgomery's amendment was then before the house, to authorise the president to commission the armed vessels of the U. States to bring in vessels who may attempt to evade the law.

Mr. Sheffey moved to amend the amendment by adding the following words: Provided, that nothing herein contained shall authorise the capture or search of any foreign vessels without the jurisdiction of the United States. This amendment was lost.

Mr. Montgomery modified his amendment so as to make it read "the commanders of our armed vessels to bring in any French or British vessels which in their opinion are attempting to evade this act."

The question on this amendment was taken by ayes and noes and lost—ayes 47; nays 76.

The question then was on engrossing the bill for a third reading,

Mr. Mumford rose and said he should give it his decided negative. He considered it as colonial submission to England. In order to get at his object he moved the postponement of the further consideration of the bill till the 3d Monday in February next.

Twenty Dollars Reward.

RAN AWAY on Friday the 13th inst. a Negro Man slave named BILL—he calls himself Bill Payne, belonging to the subscriber, living in Charles county, state of Maryland. The said slave is a house servant, waits and drives a carriage very well; he is 23 years of age, 5 feet 9 inches high, small face, handsome lively eyes, is very fond of strong liquor, plays on the fiddle—had on and took with him one suit of blue nankeens, a dark cloth coat and overalls, two jackets of Bennett's cord, two India cotton shirts, one with ruffles, one pair of good boots, one hat half worn, and sundry other wearing apparel, not sufficiently known to be well described. The said slave took a fiddle with him, and it is expected that he intends to go to Frederick Town (Maryland). The above reward will be paid for securing the said slave in any public jail, and reasonable charges if brought to me in Charles county.

To be Rented for a term of years,

THAT valuable tract of Land, called Preston, situate on the Washington and Alexandria turnpike road, at the junction of four mile creek and Potomac river, and distant two miles from Alexandria, three from Washington and five from George Town.—There are upon the premises a two story dwelling house, containing six rooms and a passage, with a kitchen, carriage house, stables, &c. a large, handsome and highly manured garden, of at least ten acres, in a high state of cultivation, and lately laid off by an experienced gardener, an orchard containing several hundred pear, plumb, cherry and damson trees, with English walnut, quince and mulberry trees, and also upwards of six hundred apple trees, and two or three hundred peach trees, selected with care from the best nurseries, and all in full bearing. The annual average product of the apple orchard alone is estimated at 400 barrels. This tract contains about 100 acres of land, a considerable part whereof has been manured and sown with clover seed. The shores afford fish and wild fowl, and one or two good fishing landings. The situation is healthy, elevated and pleasant, in full view of three towns, and is well calculated for a place of public entertainment. Immediate possession may be had and the terms will be made known upon application to Frances Alexander.

Potomac Land for Sale.

WISHING to remove to the upper country, I offer for sale, the FARM, on which I live, in the county of King George, lying on the Potomac River and Rosier's Creek, and containing about 700 acres; about 300 of which are cleared, and the larger portion of it of the first description of Potomac low grounds; the residue of the tract is about equally divided between oak and cedar, the latter peculiarly valuable for all the purposes of enclosing. The preference which this place claims over most others in the advantages of living, such as wild fowl, fish, oysters, crabs, &c. renders it an highly desirable establishment for any gentleman who may wish to reside on tide water. The improvements on this property are complete, consisting of a two story dwelling house, 60 by 20 feet containing seven rooms, with passages and excellent cellars; another two story dwelling house, containing three rooms and a cellar; a new meat house, dairy, ice house, stables, corn houses, and every kind of necessary enclosure. To this property is annexed a new and most valuable overshot mill, with two pair stones, bolting cloth, cob machine, &c. &c. The terms of sale will be made as easy to the purchaser as he can reasonably ask.

Pinkerton's Collection of Voyages and Travels,

Forming a complete History of the Origin and Progress of Discovery by Sea and Land, from the most authentic Sources.

THE first number of this valuable Work is just come to hand and is ready for inspection at the store of the subscriber, in King-street, and with Mr. Triplet, at the coffee-house.

Fully aware of the impositions that have been practised upon the public by strangers soliciting subscriptions from distant places; the Editors invite their examination of a Work perhaps the most useful, entertaining as well as extensive in its kind that has ever been undertaken in any country. And they flatter themselves that the American will by no means shrink from a comparison with the London edition, tho' offered at six dollars per Vol. less.

This number may be considered as a fair specimen of the execution of the work, and will be left a short time for examination, before the 2d number is put to press. After this the subscription will be raised to $3 25 each number; and but a few more copies printed than are sufficient to supply the subscribers, that the early patrons of this valuable Work may have a decided advantage—subsequent applications may therefore come too late.

It is also the intention of the Editor to annex to the last number a complete list of names of the subscribers, as the patrons and encouragers of useful knowledge, the arts and literature of the United States.

Subscriptions are received by the suscriber,

James Kennedy, sen.
